Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time August 28, 2016

This summer Chris Virginio completed his term as Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus. Chris and his team of officers worked very hard for the past couple of years encouraging new membership and supporting the needs of our parish, our town, and our extended community. This past Saturday morning I met with our new Grand Knight, Joe Carvagno. Joe is excited to begin this new phase in his life. For those of us who know and love Joe, he's bright, hard working, energetic and kind. I wish him God's blessings as with his team of officers, he carries the East Hanover Knights of Columbus to new heights.

Last weekend I blessed many of our young people who are heading off to college and many who are returning to college. It's an exciting time for our young people to follow their dreams in the college of their choice. We keep them in our prayers and we know that the foundation that we have given them has prepared them to be faith-filled, strong, and empowered to use their intellect toward a wonderful future. We keep the empty nesters - moms and dads, in our prayers during these difficult days of transition for them.

Talk of transition! Fr. Matthew is back to being the Vicar again. I know he enjoyed taking charge of the parish during my absence. He did a great job and worked hard with enthusiasm. I have appointed Fr. Matthew as Moderator of the Early Childhood Center and I know along with our Director, Miss Lori, and her dedicated staff, our ECC will continue to flourish.

As you can see the car has arrived. Our car raffle has begun. I hope you like the car this year. It's spacious, fast, and beautiful. All you need to do to win the car is to purchase tickets. You need to be in it to win it! By now every family will have received their package of tickets. I appreciate you mailing them back to us at your earliest convenience. The car will be raffled on October 22nd and so we have approximately eight weeks to achieve our goal of a $50,000.00 profit. Once the cost of the car, $40,545.00, is paid then we start to make the profit. Our car booth will open for curbside sales on Wednesday, September 7th. We placed the car sitter calendar in the church foyer. Please sign up for the most convenient time that works for you.

Congratulations to Dan and Stephanie Politi on the birth of their two grandchildren. Their son Greg and his wife Julia welcomed their little girl Juniper about two weeks ago. Their son Anthony and his wife Laura welcomed their little boy Oliver Daniel Gerard about a week ago. The Lord has truly blessed Dan and Stephanie and I know they'll enjoy every minute of the little Politi babies.

World Youth Day Reflection by Michael DiCaro

"Hi, I see that you have 'World Youth Day' on your shirt. What is that?"

When being asked that question multiple times by many different people while waiting to board our flight from Newark to Frankfurt, I really did not know how to answer it. I knew that there would be millions of Catholics from all over the world, there would be moments of prayerful reflection, times to experience the beauty of Krakow, and lots of walking involved. However, there were still lots of uncertainties. Would we be in danger of a terrorist attack? What exactly would the World Youth Day experience bring to me? While these questions swirled in my head, I knew that I had to put my best foot forward and be ready to experience all that was coming my way.

One of the things that struck me the most was the universality of the Church that was on display. Krakow, while lending it's historic, homey feel, was only the backdrop. The main players of this "play" per se were the people that came from 187 countries. In theory, we were all so different. We all spoke different languages, came from different cultures, had different pastimes, and ate different foods. These differences were not polarizing; rather, in the spirit of World Youth Day, no one got caught up in these dissimilarities. The only thing that mattered was that we were all Catholics. All brothers and sisters in the eyes of God, there was a familial love present. Through the chanting in their native tongues, singing the songs that they have listened to over and over again, the smiles that never left their faces, we were able to learn more about these people. The French had a certain zest for life that you would just want to bottle up, the Spanish would love to try to talk to anyone, the Hungarians loved to trade things for American pins, and the Polish were the polite, gracious hosts, whose national pride was always on its full display. The energy that you felt when you were with these large groups of people was electrifying! To see all these people from around the world, in one place for one common event, is something that I'm not sure I will ever get to experience again. This community, really a family, that was gathered, truly made me feel honored and grateful to be a part of community so special as the Catholic Church. This truly was God's love on display.

The focus of this World Youth Day was the Jubilee of Mercy. Pope Francis urged the young people in his welcome speech, "Launch us on the adventure of mercy! Launch us on the adventure of building bridges and tearing down walls, barriers and barbed wire. Launch us on the adventure of helping the poor, those who feel lonely and abandoned, or no longer find meaning in their lives." With these words echoing in our hearts, as we were walking to the Vigil Mass, we encountered a group of Italians that were struggling to carry their food rations that were provided to us. My mom volunteered to help them carry their bags (as well as her own), but after awhile, she traded off with my brother and me. Already tired from the intense heat and from the weight of our own bags, I thought about how simple this action was, and how profound of an impact that it had to these Italians. This is what living the year of Mercy was all about; helping those that needed it. When we reached the point that the Italians were stopping at, they showed us immense gratitude and love. And it warms my heart just thinking about it.

Today, if I was asked what World Youth Day was, I would have the perfect answer. World Youth Day is about the love. It is about the love one has for their neighbor, friend, and family; the love that is inherent in our hearts. Sometimes, we shut this love off and become stone cold people that only care about ourselves. But with a focus on ourselves, how can we be active members in society and the Church? And so, fellow parishioners, I have a challenge for you. During the rest of the Year of Mercy, try to do something that you would not normally do for someone. As cliché as it sounds, help the elderly woman cross the street. If someone is struggling carrying something, give them a hand. Volunteer at a soup kitchen, join a mentorship program, visit a nursing home. We are all children of God; let us remember to treat everyone we meet as such. Thank you for allowing me this opportunity. You were in my prayers, and I was very grateful for yours.

EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER NEWS

SUMMER ENRICHMENT CAMPERS were Buggin' Out this week! We were visited by The Lizard Guys on Tuesday, August 16th. They brought in some interesting creatures for the children to observe and explore - such as turtles, snakes, spiders and of course a lizard. The children were eager to learn all about the habitats and eating habits of these creatures. Also this week, the children investigated ladybugs and made ladybug hats. They read about The Very Lonely Firefly, by Eric Carle and made fingerprint fireflies. They had fun learning about caterpillars and made their own caterpillars using fruit loops, and they also learned about the life of bees and why they are so important to us. Although this was our last week of Summer Camp, the children gained so much knowledge about our insect friends!
